THE SENATE TAKES UP THE PORTER BILL

The Bill Incorporating the Spokane Falls and Coeur d'Alene Railroad Company—Interesting Congressional Notes.

The Star Route Investigation

WASHINGTON, March 12.—William A. Cook continued his testimony to-day before the Springer committee. He testified that the government's star route prosecution was [illegible] by the absence of [illegible] Bliss, who often returned to New York to attend to private business. [illegible] Bliss claim for expenses [illegible] charges for railroad fare from Washington to New York, and from New York to Washington several times. [illegible] and was a witness to [illegible] in his expense account. [illegible] a day. Afterwards in his [illegible] It is rather remarkable [illegible] a charge for [illegible] as an attorney [illegible] Witness said the compensation of Bliss was extravagant [illegible] Ample compensation [illegible] every [illegible] considering the conditions in which Bliss did [illegible] would have been $30,000. The [illegible] found the case [illegible] improperly handled. The appointment [illegible] was wholly a political appointment. Witness [illegible] received a testimony of yesterday and said he had [illegible] to say [illegible] before President Garfield [illegible] the attorney general received an anonymous and threatening letter. Cook was excused until to-morrow.

Brewster Issues a Circular.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The following circular has been sent to all United States attorneys and marshals:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11, 1884.

To District Attorneys and Marshals of the United States: By direction of the president I have to inform you that it is reported that certain persons are shipping in [illegible] perpetrating heinous crimes by shipping to foreign ports explosives dangerous in the highest degree to life and property. No proof has been adduced that [illegible] and the president cannot [illegible] it is the truth. [illegible] however requires that it should not be [illegible] of the slightest imputation of tolerating such crimes, whether to be [illegible] against our people or those of other countries. Your attention is therefore called to sections [illegible] 5353, 4278 and 4279, revised statutes of the United States, which regulate the shipment of explosives and the punishment of those who infringe their provisions, and you are instructed to be vigilant in your efforts to prevent the offenses prescribed and to detect and prosecute those who have or may commit them. Very respectfully,

BENJ. HARRIS BREWSTER,
Attorney General

The Old Tug Company Defeated

WASHINGTON, March 12.—[Special.]—The secretary of the treasury has rendered a decision sustaining the views of Representative Dingley with reference to the ownership of an American vessel by an incorporated company. He holds that under the act of 1825 amended in 1858 an alien may be a shareholder in such company without forfeiting the American character of the vessel, and he dismisses the petition of the old tug company in San Francisco that proceedings may be instituted against the new tug company because some of the shares of its stock are held by aliens.

Northwestern Inventors

WASHINGTON, March 12.—[Special.]—Patents have been issued as follows: J. M. Graves, [illegible] Washington territory, necktie fastener; C. G. Hewitt and W. Ames, [illegible] machine; R. M. Gleskey, Walla Walla, combined fire lighter and jack; W. P. Phillips, [illegible] Oregon, a ventilating [illegible]; [illegible] Oregon, washing machine.

The Weather

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Southern and northern Pacific coast generally fair weather. Central Pacific, local rains.

Senate

WASHINGTON, March 12.

Bills reported favorably and placed on the calendar:

By Pugh, from the committee on education and labor—To establish an educational fund and apply a portion of the proceeds of sales of public lands to public education and to provide for a more complete endowment and support of colleges for the advancement of scientific and industrial education.

By Morrill, from the committee on finance—With an amendment in the nature of a substitute bill authorizing the secretary of the treasury to deliver to the rightful owners the contents of certain boxes deposited in the treasury department by the secretary of war. These are boxes which contents Butler said, when introducing the bill, were the property of private citizens and consisted of articles of value taken by [illegible] at Baltimore.

A bill was introduced and referred by Edmunds to establish forest reservations at the headwaters of the Missouri river and at the headwaters of Clark's fork of the Columbia river.

The senate then resumed consideration of the pleuro-pneumonia bill.

Coke spoke strongly against the bill in its present shape as it included all communicable diseases whatever which he said would place all the cattle interest of Virginia at the mercy of the commissioner of agriculture.

At 2 o'clock the pleuro-pneumonia bill went over. The senate then took up the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter, and Sewell addressed the senate on the bill.

Sewell spoke of the party of Porter's motives and defended him as a man and a soldier.

Wilson followed in opposition to the bill.

Adjourned.

House.

WASHINGTON, March 11

[illegible] a favorable report was submitted by [illegible] from the committee on military affairs, upon the bill to authorize the Cheyenne, Black Hills and Montana Railroad Company to build [illegible] the Fort Russell and Laramie reservation [illegible] favorably a bill to place Gideon G. [illegible] on the retired list as major general.

The house went into committee of the whole on the postoffice appropriation bill.

Hiscock opposed the bill. The recent reduction in postage must not be made an excuse for a limited appropriation. It was the purpose of the democrats to reduce the public and claim they had cut down the expenses of the postoffice department, but if they did it was not with due regard to the demands of the service.

Holman defended the bill. He denied that it was intended to cripple the service and asserted on the contrary that whatever the measure was economical in its appropriations it was one calculated to give to the postoffice department even more than it had at present.

Townshend deprecated [illegible] political discussion of a bill of this character. He compared this bill with the bill for the [illegible] to show that the republican party of the last house had made a [illegible] deficiency appropriation [illegible]. Townshend then proceeded to arraign the republican party for past offenses in administration of the government during the last fifteen years. No American citizen could review the record of that party without a feeling of shame for his country. Many of the leaders of that party were pure and noble men, but where were they gone? When the republican party [illegible] converted into a spoil hunting band they left it [illegible] joined the only political party which had patriotism. [illegible] Laughter on the republican side, and [illegible] [illegible] as to where Pendleton would be. [illegible] Referring to an expression in Horr's speech as to the virtue of the republican party, [illegible] that such a thing as virtue existed in that party. It had opened the treasury to the [illegible] which ever existed in a free country [illegible] Michigan (Horr) in the face of the disgraceful record of the star route frauds [illegible] about virtue. If the gentleman was [illegible] campaign material for the next election [illegible] the name by bringing up the record [illegible] The republican party would be tried [illegible] [illegible] had outlived and [illegible] convicted and condemned to everlasting [illegible] (Applause on the democratic side, and hisses and applause on the republican side.)

[illegible] though [illegible] gentlemen who attempted to [illegible] the republican party should remember that [illegible] party which had not the courage to consider the wool tariff or the whisky bill.

The bill having been read by sections, Horr moved [illegible] to $4,225,000 the appropriation for compensation of postmasters.

Pending action the committee rose and the house [illegible]

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS

WASHINGTON, March 12

The house, in committee of the whole, by a vote of [illegible] struck out the clause limiting the salaries of postmasters to $4000.

An amendment offered by Horr, increasing from [illegible] to $12,250,000 the appropriation for the compensation of postmasters was lost—41 to 83.

[illegible] moved to increase the appropriation for [illegible] by $25,000.

The increased appropriation was favored by [illegible] Bingham and Horr and opposed by Holman and Townshend.

The amendment was lost—[illegible] to 111.

[illegible] of New York offered an amendment increasing by $50,000 the appropriation for the [illegible] letter carriers.

Pending action the committee rose and the house adjourned.

CONGRESSIONAL CHIT CHAT

BLACK FOREST RESERVATION BILL

WASHINGTON, March [illegible]—The bill introduced in the senate by Edmunds to provide for the establishment of a forest reservation at the headwaters of the Missouri and the headwaters of Clarke's fork of the Columbia river [illegible] provides that a tract of land in the territory of Montana embracing an area of about [illegible] square miles and the boundaries of which are described in the bill, is reserved and withdrawn from settlement, occupancy or sale and dedicated and set apart forever as a national forest reservation for the preservation of the natural forests [illegible] and the sources of the Columbia and [illegible] rivers there.

SPOKANE FALLS AND COEUR D'ALENE RAILROAD

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The bill reported by [illegible] incorporating the Spokane Falls and Coeur d'Alene railroad [illegible] to construct a railroad [illegible] Idaho territory, designates [illegible] A. M. Cannon [illegible] Davis [illegible] H. L. Cummings [illegible] and such other persons as may be [illegible] with them as incorporators. [illegible] road with a grand trunk [illegible] Spokane Falls, Washington territory by way of [illegible] to a point [illegible] Northern [illegible] railroad, in western Montana and will have branch lines on the main line in Idaho territory up the following streams [illegible]

Mary and St. Joseph [illegible] the sources of the same [illegible] connecting with the [illegible] Spokane Falls [illegible]. The company is authorized to [illegible] St Mary's [illegible] and to [illegible] towboats [illegible] water craft [illegible] to the [illegible] Spokane Falls with [illegible] power [illegible] with any railroad company [illegible] granted all the rights and privileges [illegible] railroad companies having the right of way through public lands of the United States.

THE QUESTION OF [illegible]

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The senate committee on foreign relations to-day received an informal report from the sub-committee consisting of Senators Miller of California, Morgan and Pendleton, appointed to consider the export [illegible] products [illegible] that a bill should be enacted authorizing the president [illegible] whenever he is satisfied that unjust [illegible] are enacted [illegible] by any foreign country [illegible] to issue his proclamation [illegible] of all products [illegible] authorizing the president to establish a system of [illegible] and certification of the quantity of [illegible] products at ports of exportation. It is further [illegible] that provision be made [illegible] certain charges for all articles [illegible] shall be subject to inspection. [illegible] committee discussed the subject at considerable length and the prevalent feeling was decidedly in favor of the proposed lines of legislation. Action was deferred however to await the formulation of general suggestions and the receipt of desired information from the treasury department bearing on the [illegible] of meat inspection.

PETITIONS PRESENTED BY [illegible]

WASHINGTON, March 11.—[Special.]—Mr. Brents in the house this morning presented [illegible] petition [illegible] of Washington territory praying for an appropriation [illegible] the restoration of a marine [illegible] association in regard to [illegible] the inspection of steamboats [illegible] navy department. Also a memorial from the chamber of commerce [illegible] of Seattle against forfeiture of the Northern Pacific railroad land grants.

[illegible] PLEADS FOR WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Delegate Brents of Washington territory appeared before the senate and house committees on territories to-day in advocacy of the admission of Washington territory into the Union on or after March 4, 1885. This bill, he says, will have the effect [illegible] and allow the people [illegible] the interim [illegible] adopt a state constitution and choose state officers.

BLAND'S BILL TO BE REPORTED FAVORABLY

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The house committee on coinage, weights and measures has agreed to report favorably Representative Bland's bill [illegible] the coinage of [illegible] dollars and [illegible] trade dollars and the three cent [illegible] the coinage of gold double eagles [illegible] bullion purchase.

FAVORABLE TO THE [illegible]

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The state militia committee agreed to report favorably, with an amendment, Representative [illegible] bill [illegible] the appropriation for the benefit of militia [illegible] the same to be apportioned among the states and territories.

[illegible] NEWSPAPER [illegible]

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senator [illegible] will this week introduce a bill to make [illegible] newspapers [illegible] It is claimed that the measure will [illegible] with the indorsement of leading dailies.

WILL MAKE ANOTHER EFFORT

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Representative Willis says another effort to pass the bill extending the bonded whisky period will be made within the next few days.

LET THE NAME OF DAKOTA'S CAPITAL BE CHANGED

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Special.]—The project of changing the name of the capital town of Dakota is assuming a serious phase. The Times [illegible] says: Why should the capital of the proposed new state with its bright future, Dakota, whose history is characteristic of the progress and growth of the people of the United States, and of all that they regard as politically precious, be called after the one living man, Bismarck, who represents all that is antagonistic to American? Who is a bitter opponent of all free government and the upholder of military despotism and who actively has [illegible] the compliment that has been paid him in naming this new city that he has gone out of his way to make the occasion of a [illegible] act of national discourtesy [illegible] one of the most distinguished of his countrymen, the occasion for a deliberate [illegible] to our whole nation? We trust there is enough of American pride and self respect in congress to see that no bill admitting Dakota as a state into the federal union ever becomes a law until some other and more appropriate name is given to its capital.

SARGENT CAPTURED BY VON [illegible]

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Special.]—The Berlin correspondent of the Sun says: When Sargent arrived he was cunningly captured by Dr. [illegible] the leader of the [illegible] and the same gentleman who acted [illegible] in the Villard [illegible] Bismarck. Stock Raisers Convention

GALVESTON, March 12.—News Dallas special: The convention of the Northwest Texas Cattle Raisers Association began at [illegible] yesterday morning. The day was largely occupied in addresses of welcome and the election of officers. The executive committee was instructed to report to-day on the action of the state land board in [illegible] change the rule in practically withdrawing school land from the real estate market. A communication was received from Cheyenne authorizing A. S. Mercer to express the unanimous views of the Wyoming Stock Association regarding pleuro-pneumonia and inviting co-operation to secure government aid in the matter. The convention will probably adjourn Thursday.

Wool Growers' Convention.

DENVER, March 12.—A large number of delegates were present this morning at the opening of the wool growers convention, representing Colorado, Kansas, Minnesota, New Mexico, Utah, Wyoming, Utah and Nebraska. To-day's session was consumed in speech making and organization. The feeling is [illegible] that the passage of Morrison's bill would prove fatal to the wool industry of this country. [illegible] action is expected [illegible] Seven and a half million sheep [illegible] annual [illegible] pounds of wool were represented in the convention.

THE MEXICAN TREATY

Comments of the Metropolitan Press upon its Ratification

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Special.]—The Times is much pleased with the ratification of the Mexican treaty, saying: The raw products of Mexico which are admitted duty free under this treaty, are nearly all on the free list already, the exceptions being heavy, low grade sugar and leaf tobacco. We shall now be able, however, to export machinery, agricultural implements, road vehicles [illegible] pipes, bricks, tiles, petroleum and quicksilver, all of which important duties and state charges are removed. Under the generous provision of this treaty our trade with Mexico which is now only about $10,000,000 in exports and $8,000,000 in imports should very largely increase.

THE HERALD

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Special.]—The Herald on the Mexican treaty says: We do not say with the Tribune that the treaty is a free trade treaty, but we regard it as a most important step toward breaking down the many barriers we have raised against foreign trade and as a means that will benefit [illegible] consumers of this country [illegible]

THE CATTLE PLAGUE

Meeting of Cattle Men—Resolutions Adopted Asking for an Extra Session to Pass Sanitary Laws

EMPORIA, Kas., March 12.—The train from Topeka [illegible] [illegible] citizens from various parts of the state went down to Neosho Falls yesterday to attend the meeting of cattle men. The interest in the foot and mouth disease is intense and has called together representatives from some twelve counties. The committee from Lyon county reported that the disease had been traced to cattle of James O'Toole, brought up from Hartford. On this farm a short time ago cattle were sold to all parts of the state, and the danger is very great, as six head of cattle in the yard had the disease in its most advanced stage. A new case is also reported in the [illegible] part of Wabaunsee county, where twelve head are affected. Veterinary Surgeon H. [illegible] have been over the infected district, [illegible] reported confirming all statements previously made, and state that the only cure known is death to the [illegible] and the killing of the animals [illegible] the carcasses and all things [illegible] connected with it. [illegible] [illegible] should be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] When specific laws may be enacted. The reports of the committee plainly showed that the disease [illegible] Governor Glick, Col. [illegible] Campbell of Kansas and Senator Kelly [illegible] action and [illegible] in suppressing the disease. Resolutions were adopted as follows:

Resolved, That we ask the governor of this state to convene the legislature at once in a special session to pass laws on this subject and none others whereby much irreparable loss may be avoided.

Resolved, That we earnestly ask our representatives in congress to press to a speedy passage the bill now in that body known as the Hatch bill on this matter—on contagious diseases among domestic animals.

The meeting was held in the largest church in the town, which was packed. There were present Senators Plumb, Kelly and [illegible] and three or four members of the house, all [illegible] [illegible] the report of the committee and believed it would be a wise policy to call an extra session. Several hundred [illegible] to be in the hands of various local committees, and they were instructed to turn them over to a local quarantine committee, who will keep a strict quarantine until such time as the legislature meets.

Besides the above resolutions one was adopted urging the Kansas delegation at Washington to unite in requesting Governor Glick to convene the legislature immediately. An Associated Press reporter approached Governor Glick last evening upon this subject. He is willing to issue a call as soon as convinced that the citizens of the state desire it.

THE SITUATION BECOMING MORE SERIOUS

KANSAS CITY, March 12.—Journal's Neosho Falls, Kansas special says: The situation is becoming more serious. An inquiry yesterday showed that the disease appeared in the herd of one Ireland [illegible] [illegible] the first report of which was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Cattle men assembled here [illegible] result [illegible] still hope for the best. A meeting here to-day brought stock men from all parts of Kansas to be in attendance. The meeting was organized by the election of Lieutenant Governor Finney, president, and [illegible] secretary. The [illegible] cattle are being affected. Calf for shipment and corn fed cattle are not touched by the disease. La[illegible] [illegible] their examination [illegible] army surgeon at Fort [illegible] [illegible] was convinced that the malady was foot and mouth disease.

MEETING OF STOCK MEN AT CALDWELL

CALDWELL, Kas., March 12.—The second annual meeting of the Cherokee Strip live stock association convened in this city to-day. Three hundred people were in attendance, representing about [illegible] cattle. President [illegible] opened the convention with a speech concerning the foot and mouth disease in this state. He urged the convention to adopt stringent resolutions concerning the suppression of the same, and [illegible] the national live stock convention to be held at St. Louis this season. The convention adopted resolutions requesting the governor to call an extra session of the legislature to enact laws to provide means to stamp out the disease. A resolution was passed instructing the board of directors of the association to appropriate money to pay for five car loads of [illegible] Creek [illegible] county, Kansas, and have it immediately shipped to sufferers in the Ohio valley floods.

THE QUARANTINE COMMITTEE

NEOSHO FALLS, Kas., March 12.—The quarantine committee [illegible] in the mass convention yesterday held a meeting last night and have taken all possible precautions to stop the infection of herds and families. THE FAST MAIL SERVICE

It is Extended to St. Paul—Western People Well Pleased

CHICAGO, March 12.—Fast mail service is to be extended to the northwest as far as Minneapolis and St. Paul. General [illegible] has entered into a contract with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway to the end [illegible] the first train leaves here at [illegible] o'clock to-morrow morning, reaching St. Paul at 3:30 to-morrow afternoon and Minneapolis [illegible] connecting with night trains out of these cities. This brings through mail from New York to St. Paul [illegible] and shortens the running time between Chicago and St. Paul five and a half hours and shortens the through mail service about fifteen hours. [illegible] the postal authorities and the railway company [illegible] one year. Owing to the fact that the arrangement was only consummated this afternoon the railway officials have not outlined [illegible] for the running of trains [illegible] between Chicago and Minneapolis. Trains will [illegible] two postal cars and [illegible] will be made. General [illegible] Assistant General Manager Miller of the St. Paul road, [illegible] and a number of other postoffice officials will be aboard the train on its trial run through to St. Paul. The statement having been made that the Chicago and Northwestern would put on another fast train between this city and St. Paul, officials of the latter road deny the report.

THE PEOPLE PLEASED

OMAHA, March 12.—The people of Nebraska, Colorado and far west points are delighted with the fast mail service. Twenty four hours has been saved between New York and all Union Pacific points. If the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy would shorten the time one hour from Chicago, Omaha would receive mail in time for early evening delivery. This would also [illegible] Denver, Cheyenne, Ogden and Salt Lake. The Union Pacific could then leave Omaha at 7 P. M. Mail now arrives at Ogden at 5 P. M. and leaves for the west at 7:50 the following morning. If the Central Pacific would leave at 7 P. M. it could arrive at San Francisco at 7 P. M. instead of 5:40, thus making fourteen hours from Ogden or thirty seven hours between the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts. Central Pacific officials are being urged to change the time as above and it is believed they will comply.

RAILROAD NOTES.

OVERLAND FREIGHTS

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Special.]—There is not much doing in overland freights owing to washouts on all lines. The Union Pacific is the only line clear to San Francisco, and other lines are shipping freights largely by this route, which is doing three times its usual amount of business. It is understood that all freights are taken subject to indefinite delay on all routes but the Union Pacific. At the office of the Texas Pacific railroad a telegram was received this morning stating that their line would be clear west of the Needles in about five days.

AN UNFOUNDED RUMOR

NEW YORK, March 12.—A report received to-day from Chicago to the effect that it was probable the Pennsylvania and Erie roads would withdraw from the trunk line pool, in consequence of the non-maintenance of rates by other members of the pool, proves unfounded. Commissioner Fink stated there was no truth whatever in the rumor, as the association was never in better condition or working more harmoniously than at present.

WILL BE OPENED ON THE 20TH

NEW YORK, March 12.—[Special.]—The Mexican Central railway will be opened for traffic to the City of Mexico by March 20. An arrangement has been made by which Pullman cars will run from St. Louis to Mexico with only one change at El Paso. It is expected the trip from New York to the City of Mexico will be made in six days.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

Bad Break on the Palouse Branch

[illegible] W. T., March 12.—[Special.]—The Palouse branch of the Northern Pacific is submerged to a depth of four feet at Lake Washtucna, thirty miles east of Palouse Junction, and the company are laying a track at the side of the lake on high ground. Freight [illegible] for this place now at the junction has been ordered back to Wallula Junction, thence to Riparia, thence by steamer to Almota, and by [illegible] here. It is thought from this that there will be no trains for three weeks or a month.

The cause of this break seems to be bad engineering. Washtucna lake is dry for about ten months in the year, but there is considerable depth of water every spring if there is a heavy snow and it goes off with a Chinook wind. This is well known to Indians, to stock raisers in the neighborhood and to resident engineers. Your correspondent is informed that the location was made through the lake by an eastern chief engineer against the advice of sub-engineers who were well informed as to the history of the lake.

Seattle Items

SEATTLE, March 12.—[Special.]—D. B. Ward, a well known citizen, while out driving to-day his horse becoming fractious jumped from the vehicle and struck his ankle against an iron casting. The bones of the ankle were badly shattered and the flesh lacerated. C. H. Jenne, a lawyer, in the carriage at the time was uninjured. The unfortunate man is a brother of Kirk C. Ward of the Chronicle. It is feared amputation may become necessary.

The schooner Alice from Eureka, Humboldt county, California, has arrived at Seattle with a cargo of redwood lumber which will be used here for finishing purposes. It is said to be the first shipment of redwood.

Accidentally Shot.

SPRAGUE, March 12.—[Special.]—A man named William O'Neil from California met with an accident ten miles north of here caused by carelessness in handling his shotgun. In pulling it out of his wagon he caught it by the muzzle and it exploded, shattering his arm near the shoulder. Amputation was successfully performed. The people of Sprague with their usual liberality raised sufficient funds to make the poor fellow comparatively comfortable.

THE CROUCH MURDER TRIAL

JACKSON, Mich., March 12.—Some startling testimony was adduced this afternoon in the Crouch [illegible] trial by the prosecution. D. Herrington, an ex-convict, was put on the stand and swore that in [illegible] last he was approached by Jim Foy, who said: "You are just the man I was looking for. I want a man who has pluck and nerve." Witness asked what for. He said: "Old Jacob Crouch was a d—d old hog, and was trying to beat the boys out of their property, and that if witness would go with him." He [illegible] at once he would give him $5, and that if witness would help the boys get the property back, Judd and the captain (meaning [illegible] Crouch) would give him $3000. Witness told him he would write to him if he concluded to accept. Witness never did write to him. He saw Foy again after the murder and he said witness had better get out, as Judd and Holcomb had put their foot in it, and knew witness was on to them, and if witness did not get out they would shoot him.

On cross-examination he admitted that he had been tried for killing a deputy sheriff named Moe [illegible] that he had been sentenced to prison from Adrian for attempted murder.

[illegible] TELLER'S TRACK

ST. LOUIS, March 12.—It is alleged that detectives working on the Pacific express robbery case have obtained a sufficient clue to the whereabouts of Teller or one of his confederates to justify sending a small special train with officers to some point in southern Texas with a view, it is said, to prevent the fugitive entering Mexico.

GALVESTON, March 12.—News Sherman special: George McFadden of Sherman was arrested here today on a charge of being implicated in the Pacific express robbery at St. Louis. The officers are extremely reticent.

A VIGILANTE HANGED

OMAHA, March 12.—The paper published at Ainsworth, Nebraska, which reached here to-day, contained the statement that Hy Richards, one of the leading members of the vigilance committee which has been waging vigorous war on a band of horse thieves, was hanged by unknown persons near Morris Bridge. The act is supposed to have been committed by surviving members of the gang.

FATAL QUARREL BETWEEN BOYS

CHICAGO, March 12.—Chicago Daily News special from Morning Sun, Iowa, says: J. F. Sterrett and Wade Campbell, school boys aged [illegible], quarreled. Sterrett drew a revolver and shot Campbell through the heart. The boys belonged to good families.

MURDERED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS

APPLE [illegible], Ill., March 12.—Galina Eggenberger, a leading citizen, was found dead on the railroad track with two bullet holes in his head. Murderers are unknown. Citizens offer a reward of $500 for their capture.

PENSION AGENTS INDICTED

Messrs. Fleming Bros
Sirs,—I take this opportunity of informing you of the benefits I have derived from Dr C McLane's Liver Pills. I have for two years past been afflicted with a severe pain over the eyes, accompanied with a nervousness and sense of dizziness, a malady beyond the power and skill of our physicians to relieve and cure, caused, as far as I myself could judge, by a diseased state of the liver and stomach. Some of the doctors tried bleeding and various other remedies were tried but all in vain, for the deep-rooted disease still stuck fast. At last, I procured a box of your valuable Liver Pills from a druggist here, and found after taking a portion of them that the disease and painful sensation over the eyes have almost entirely left me. I will close by advising all those afflicted as I have been, to procure the valuable medicine at once and save much time and pain with little expense. With sincere gratitude and respect I remain, yours respectfully,
GEO. W. RUSSELL, Toronto

Mr and Mrs Williams, No 248 Seventh street, testify that they have both been suffering with the liver complaint for about five years, during which time they have spent a large amount of money and tried many remedies, but to no purpose. Finally hearing of Dr C McLane's Liver Pills prepared by Fleming Bros, Pittsburgh, Pa, they purchased four boxes which they took according to the directions accompanying each box, and now pronounce themselves perfectly cured of that distressing disease.

THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 13, 1884.

A FAILURE AND ITS LESSONS.

The paper bearing the name of the Northwest News, after another suspension, appeared again yesterday, taking the style of a blackguard sheet. Possibly publication of it in this character may be continued "off and on" a few days longer. Since the bottom has now been reached and there is nothing more to lose, a malicious disposition and vicious taste may prompt the expenditure by somebody of a few dollars to "run" the paper for a short time longer as a smut mill; but the effort to make a newspaper of it has proven an utter failure, and it is therefore, virtually dead. The approach of death has been visible in all its lineaments for months past, and formal announcement of its dissolution could take no one by surprise. As an effort to start a newspaper this was the most pretentious ever made here, and the failure therefore is the most signal and complete that journalism in the northwest has ever known. It is an event that points a moral, both to those who are so anxious to embark in the newspaper business without knowledge of the conditions that lead to success or failure in it, and to the public, or that portion of the public who allow themselves to be victimized and swindled by every adventurer in journalism who comes among them to solicit their names and take their money. There is no business in which success is so difficult as in journalism, yet every tyro thinks he can succeed in it and in every community there are many persons who, as little guided by judgment, receive his promises with credulity and lend their favor to his pretensions, evidently under the impression that to establish and conduct a newspaper is the simplest and easiest thing in the world.

It is useless, however, to inquire how far this failure is due to inexperience and want of knowledge of the business. The best judgment, the highest industry, the greatest skill, would have failed to establish another newspaper in Portland, simply because there was no room for it. Good judgment, however, would not have made the attempt, because it would have comprehended the situation without the necessity of experiment. It would have perceived that the field of journalism here was fully occupied and that an additional daily newspaper could not get in here without crowding some other paper out; and every newspaper man who has had experience knows how extremely difficult, in fact, how well-nigh impossible, it is to do anything of this kind. Yet this undertaking, whose failure has been so complete, was based largely on the supposition that it would be easy to push THE OREGONIAN to the wall. It has been a favorite notion with not a few that THE OREGONIAN would succumb to the first active competitor, and this now defunct newspaper was launched under encouragement from those who were dissatisfied with THE OREGONIAN because it was not an obedient party organ, and who were particularly anxious to punish it because of its strenuous resistance to the effort to elect an utterly unworthy and corrupt man to the senate of the United States. Men without experience in journalism, and narrow though ardent partisans in politics, easily persuaded themselves and each other that the country would abandon an independent newspaper to accept the organ of a faction as an exponent of journalism. Now at last the time was come for THE OREGONIAN to be degraded and punished. It had kept its position so long simply because it had had no competitor that could get a telegraphic report; but that "monopoly" now was broken and the day of judgment to the independent newspaper had come.

By the proprietors of THE OREGONIAN these comminatory declarations were received with little concern, because they knew from experience the long and infinite labor necessary to establish a newspaper, and they knew, too, perhaps as no others did, that there was no room for another journal here. And they judged that as their paper had held its own against all comers during so many years, it was not likely to be imperiled by one more attempt against it. And though the new paper was heralded as a thing which was going to eclipse it, their experience in the business and their knowledge of the field led them to the conclusion that all this wouldn't be so easy a performance; for they knew that though nothing is so easy to talk about as the publication of a newspaper, yet nothing in the whole range of business is so difficult as to publish a good and complete one. They knew, too, that the public prefer the independent journal to the organ of a partisan faction, and that, above all, it is the news that makes a newspaper. When the first number of the new paper appeared they saw it was a failure; before it had been in existence a month they saw that it was doomed. In no single issue from first to last did it equal THE OREGONIAN for news, while in all other respects it was from first to last beneath criticism and contempt. At first the public bore with it, but after a time they saw it was hopeless and began to treat it with neglect. During the greater part of its career its life has been that of a lingering death, though it is but justice to say that it has done as well as could be expected of a newspaper whose idea of journalism was that of supplying the "long felt want" of the "reliable party organ." All its mismanagement, every minor mistake, was nothing to this misconception of the mission of journalism.

The field for journalism here is a peculiar one. It bears no proportion, holds no comparison, with that in other parts of the country. This field may appear to be an ample one for many newspapers, but the cost of publication here is enormously in excess of that in any other locality in the United States, while the smallness and sparseness of population fix a limit to the business which any newspaper can do. Enterprise beyond that limit is altogether wasted. We cannot publish newspapers here as cheaply as they can be published in the eastern states, first, because all material used costs from twenty to fifty per cent. more, printers' rates are twenty-five per cent. more, and telegraphic service—rates being based on distance—is enormously greater; and, second, because there is neither sufficient population nor sufficient business here to furnish subscriptions and advertisements in such numbers as eastern and San Francisco papers can command. THE OREGONIAN pays for telegraphic service as much money as any two papers in cities of the rank of Buffalo, Cleveland and Pittsburg; it pays eight cents a pound for paper which they get for five; it pays compositors 50 cents where they pay 35 to 40. The defunct Northwest News was ignorant of the conditions of publication here. It "didn't see why an Oregon paper shouldn't be afforded at as low a price as an eastern paper," and it advertised a large weekly at $2 a year, and made deductions from that rate to agents and canvassers, which left it no margin whatever, but, on the contrary, brought the office into debt. A like effort was made to sustain the daily, by offering it first at 20 and then at 15 cents a week; but these expedients only reduced the income of the paper and made the losses more severe. The similar policy of taking advertisements at low rates—at any rates that could be obtained—aggravated the disaster from that direction. But no management could have made it successful, because there was no room for it. In little more than one year between $70,000 and $80,000 have been sunk in an undertaking which owed its origin to ignorance of the business, to spite at THE OREGONIAN and to the notion that the public would prefer "organ grinding" to independent and legitimate journalism.

In most calculations it is assumed that Mr. Blaine wants to be a candidate for president in spite of his strenuous denials. Naturally these industrious denials are taken as very good evidence that he wants it.

WARMING THE VIPER.

A year ago the United States supreme court declared that part of the Ku Klux act of 1871, which makes it a crime for two or more persons to conspire to deprive any person of the equal protection of the laws, unconstitutional. This the court held is a matter wholly within the criminal jurisdiction of a state. In its last Ku Klux decision the court upholds the constitutionality of that part of the act which is intended to protect citizens at the polls in the case of federal elections. In other words, it decides that congress has full power to legislate for the protection of voters against intimidation, violence or corruption at any election of federal officers. Coming as it does, when the attention of congress is directed to gross violations of this law, this decision may have some influence upon the suggestions which the investigating committee of the senate may make. The Albany Journal agrees with THE OREGONIAN that the southern investigations promise few results of immediate consequence, but that they "weaken the self-reliance which these communities would soon come to possess" if left to protect themselves and to bear the consequences of their own lawlessness. But this last decision of the supreme court shows that our contemporary is wrong in saying that "it ought to be regarded as a thing that the aid of the federal government can no longer be invoked in the few unsettled regions of the south to participate in the conduct of elections." This is, of course, true of state elections but not of elections in which federal officers are chosen. But the question is, how shall the federal power be applied? When Judge Devens was attorney general he recommended that the operations of the federal election laws should be extended to all polling places at which representatives in congress or presidential electors are to be voted for upon the petition of the number of citizens required to secure the appointment of a government inspector. At present this law is only effective in cities of 20,000 inhabitants or over, because of the lack of authority in supervisors or inspectors to make arrests at other places. This recommendation might be adopted, but it would hardly be effectual. There would be great difficulty in getting special deputies to administer the law, and if the attempt were made it would prove to be only another of those irritating measures which exasperate without controlling the violators of the laws. Senator Frye is reported as saying that there is no republican form of government in Mississippi, and because congress is empowered and bound to guarantee a government republican in form in every state, he thinks something should be done for Mississippi. What he really means is that the government of that state is republican only in form. But this defect cannot be remedied by the only means available for congress, that is troops. The only remedy, as we have repeatedly said, consists in the extension of civilization to Copiah county and other lawless regions by such agencies as books, newspapers, schools, sermons and other appliances of intelligence and religion which are of slow but sure operation.

While we believe it is good policy to refrain from applying measures which will exasperate without controlling the lawless people of the south, it is equally unwise for the republicans of the north to become exasperated by the disagreeable talk of southern bourbons, such for example as the following remarks of the chief democratic paper in Virginia:

> Any southern man who favors republican supremacy in the southern states puts himself at once in the attitude of an enemy of his people. Indeed, a worse enemy cannot be found than he who is willing to see the ignorant, insolent, partisan, incendiary classes placed in power over the intelligent, industrious, patriotic, law-abiding men who keep the wheel of commerce turning. And that is just what republicanism in Virginia means. The republican party at best is a party of corruption and unsound ideas, while the democratic party stands for honesty and reform. The south will continue to be democratic so long as honest freemen are in the majority.

The legislation which is inspired by frenzy is never effectual. Laws must express, not the feelings of shock or disgust, but the instincts of wisdom and prudence and self control, otherwise they will be weak and tentative, incapable of effective administration. There are some evils, and this crime against popular government is one which under the peculiar circumstances which arise from the nature of our government, may wisely be left to work their own destruction. That this will be the result in the south we have already declared our belief. In making such threats as those we have quoted from the Richmond paper and in executing them as in Copiah county and other sections, the south is warming in her bosom the snake that will sting her social and political body until for her own protection the reptile is cast out and destroyed.

The pressure of an earnest public opinion has forced the senate committee on public lands, after vexatious and suspicious delay, to report favorably the house resolution for the forfeiture of the unearned Texas Pacific land grant. This grant embraced 14,369,760 acres, valued at $40,000,000, given originally to General Fremont and his coparceners, to assist the construction of a line 678 miles in length. The franchise passed into control of Colonel Tom Scott, who endeavored to build the road, but was antagonized at every step by Mr. Huntington, who represented the rival Southern Pacific—a line established out of the surplus earnings of the subsidized Central Pacific. While Scott was trying to get further aid in the form of a guarantee for the interest on the bonds of the road, Huntington went before congress and said in substance: "Gentlemen, why should you vote additional public aid to the Texas Pacific, when I am building a parallel line without subsidy or land grant of any sort? A railroad in that fertile section should pay for itself." Scott was worsted and sold out to Gould, who in turn sold out to Huntington. The grant was intended to aid the construction of a competitor to the Southern Pacific, but notwithstanding the fact that its construction was prevented by Huntington, he had the effrontery to claim the grant, and if his letters to Colton had not been published in a fortunate moment he might have secured it, because, as he boasts, he "has friends in Washington."

The record kept at Woodstock, Vt., for the signal service shows that New England is capable of producing, among its other peculiarities of climate, something like the traditional weather of Oregon. In the month of February there was not a day without clouds. On fifteen days the clouds were dense from morning till night, and on twenty-either rain or snow fell. The mean of cloudiness, on a scale of 10, was 8.55, while the highest in any recent year before was 5.95 in 188., and the figure is generally near 5.50. The weather was also remarkably warm. Only three times did the thermometer go down to zero, and the mean for the month was 24.38 above, against 16.82 for the preceding sixteen years together. The highest in the period was 23.11 in 1877, and the lowest 3.67 in 1873. The fall of rain and snow was rather light, however, making only 3.62 inches of water, all told. But the month of March "came in like a lion," with the worst storms of the season, and a worse than that has followed, and the prospect now is that the month will go out, as it sometimes does, "like a whole menagerie."

The case in which the legal tender act has just been declared constitutional was not argued, as it was intended to be, though what Senator Edmunds would have said in favor of good money might have changed the result. What excites the most surprise is that the supreme court apparently holds that congress possesses powers very much like those of a sovereign government. The New York Times regards the conflict between the decision and the tenth amendment of the constitution as "palpable, complete and irreconcilable." The decision defends the legal tender act as the exercise of "one of the powers belonging to sovereignty in other civilized nations, and not expressly withheld from congress by the constitution;" whereas the tenth amendment reserves "to the states or to the people" all powers "not expressly delegated to the United States by the constitution." In other words, the powers of congress are determined not only by what is expressly denied to that body, but by what is expressly granted. Powers not expressly granted are distinctly reserved. The description in Justice Gray's decision of congress as "the legislature of the sovereign nation" is likely to enter into politics as a dangerous degree of centralization for the supreme court to inculcate.

Nothing could be more disgraceful than the conduct of the chief of police in hiring a dead newspaper, which has no character to lose, for use as a sewer through which to discharge his vituperation upon persons with whom he hopes to get "even." Here is the official chiefly responsible for the preservation of the peace of the city who is pouring out a stream of scurrility and venom well calculated to disturb the peace, and moreover, who does not scruple in his eagerness to attack his enemies, to throw out vile insinuations against others whose defenseless position should be their sufficient protection. As chief of police, Mr. Watkinds cannot afford to do this; as a man, he should be ashamed of it.

DR. MARVIN AND CONGREGATIONALISM.

A Communication from him, in which his Position is Defined, Followed by a Letter from Rev. E. Trumbull Lee.

PORTLAND, March 12.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I have up to the present time refrained from appearing in print touching the controversy between the First Congregational church of this city and a minority of its members. I regret that church matters should be made the subject of public discussion, but as two extended articles, one by "One of the Thirteen" and the other by my friend and brother in Christian service, Rev. Dr. G. H. Atkinson, have appeared in THE OREGONIAN, it seems but right that the public must be taken into confidence, it should know both sides.

It is true that most Congregational churches have creeds. The First Congregational church of this city has one. The people are deeply attached to it, as will appear from the failure of a motion to abolish it, made by one of the leaders of the minority at a recent church meeting. The pastor was opposed to the motion and openly stated so at the time. The creed of the First Congregational church of Portland may be found by any one who will be at the pains to read Dexter's "Manual of the Principles, Doctrines and Usages of Congregational Churches." The only action taken by the church was to make subscription to the creed no condition of church membership. Any one who receives the bible as containing the word of God, the Lord Jesus Christ as a saviour from sin, and who desires to lead a life of Christian faith and service is welcome to our communion. This is neither a radical nor a novel position. It is held by hundreds of Congregational churches, and is accepted by the entire Presbyterian denomination. In confirmation of this statement I append a letter which I received a few days ago from Rev. E. Trumbull Lee, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian church, and a portion of which bears directly upon the point in question. This letter is published with Mr. Lee's permission and is believed to contain a clear and concise statement of the position taken by the Presbyterian church in the matter of creed subscription. I have italicised the points of the letter which bear directly upon the matter in hand.

FREDERIC R. MARVIN.

PORTLAND, OR., March 10, 1884.

The Rev. F. R. Marvin, M. D.—Dear Brother: My object in addressing you by letter is not to prove our agreement or disagreement in points of doctrine or polity, but to place before you the statement of the belief and practice of the Presbyterian church with reference to the reception of members into the church, and also with reference to the relation between baptized children and the ordinances of the church.

There are two points which I understand you to hold in common with our church. These points are clear and distinct, and do not involve me in discussion on any other points, nor do they allow of any universal or [illegible] application. Nor yet in stating these points do I speak as a Congregationalist, I only give the fixed and general Presbyterian belief with reference to them.

First—We demand of a candidate for admission to the church the declared belief, attested by a right life, that Jesus Christ is God and man, and as such is the personal savior from the guilt and power and dominion of sin. There must be good evidence of faith in Jesus Christ. If it be asked what faith is, I reply in the language of our standards: "Faith in Jesus Christ is a saving grace, whereby we receive and rest upon him alone for salvation as he is offered to us in the gospel." (W. S. C., question 86.) This we call saving faith, and we consider that enough to determine Presbyterian salvation. We do not require any one confessing Christ to sign a creed, however excellent it may be as a body of doctrine, necessary to our denominational unity, and our order and united church government. We do not believe it at any time relevant to a stated creed, containing the cardinal doctrines of Evangelical belief, is necessary to the inception and realization of saving faith.

This is exactly the Presbyterian position on this point. All that we expect, or desire, is to bring them in penitence and faith to the foot of the cross. "We preach Christ crucified," and glorified.

Second—We believe that children of believing parents, and that are baptized in infancy, are de facto members of the church, and that no public confession can make them more so, though a public confession is necessary to orderly reception of the sacrament of the Lord's supper. This is not baptismal regeneration.

We thus recognize a difference between baptized and unbaptized children. We receive the former to the Lord's table as a matter of course, when they express their earnest, covenant-warranting desire to come, and give evidence of "the new birth." And we receive the latter when they give good evidence of regeneration and conversion. This also is sound Presbyterian belief and teaching on this point, as you can see for yourself when I call your attention to the declared belief of our church, as stated by Dr. Henry J. Vandyke in a notable article in the last number of the Presbyterian Review (January, 1884, page 91). He says, "The views we advocate may be summed up in these four propositions:

I. The children of professing Christians are by birth members of the visible church.

II. In recognition of their birthright membership in the church, all children of professedly believing parents ought to be baptized for the same reason that adults, professing faith in Christ, ought to be baptized.

III. Every child, lawfully baptized, until the contrary be made to appear, is presumed to be grafted into Christ, regenerated, and made a true member of the invisible church.

IV. Baptized children ought to be treated and educated as young Christians, with a view of being admitted at an early age to participation in the Lord's supper.

In all this that I say to you, I make no departure, in letter or spirit, from the standards of the entire Presbyterian church in these United States. We have no creed to sign as our evidence of personal salvation. We receive children to the privilege of the Lord's table. Creed subscription, as an evidence of saving faith, must shut out the children.

With these teachings, every enlightened Presbyterian is familiar, and he endorses them with all his soul. I am, yours very truly,

E. TRUMBULL LEE.

IMPORTED CIGARS.—For some time past a [illegible] looking fellow with the [illegible] Roman nose [illegible] Barron has been swindling unsophisticated parties in this city by selling alleged imported [illegible] cigars, affirming that he was able to do [illegible] low rates. [illegible] The cigars had been [illegible] into the office of [illegible] yesterday [illegible] and asked him to buy [illegible] of Customs Shurtliff [illegible] The price was so low [illegible] imported cigars [illegible] the collector inquired how imported cigars [illegible] sold at those figures. He was evidently [illegible] that they were smuggled. This statement had electrical effect on Collector Shurtliff. To [illegible] the smuggled goods only faintly [illegible] He also seized Espiridon Barron and [illegible] office of [illegible] District Attorney Wat[illegible] When confronted with this terror of evildoers [illegible] and that the cigars were [illegible] that he had simply been lying about the [illegible] "I have no right to lie in the way [illegible] but I never lie to an officer." As the [illegible] from the stamp of a California factory, it was [illegible] that the fellow had lied and therefore a case of [illegible] could not be made to lie against [illegible] Judge Wat[illegible] the fellow that he ought to be in the pen[illegible] obtaining money under false pretenses [illegible] of the parties swindled by him would [illegible] from the scoundrel might be sent there [illegible] persons are advised when approached by [illegible] individual and a [illegible] to [illegible] cigars in boxes stamped with a California factory mark, to treat him as he deserves.

[illegible] COURT.—Sam Cohen whom his old em[illegible] Waller agrees, had failed to bail out came [illegible] on a charge of grand larceny by [illegible] from the flocks of one Wood. He [illegible] a plea of not guilty, and his case was con[illegible] Prof. Murphy a victim of cheap [illegible] sent below for ten days. Joseph [illegible] and John Carrol were charged with defacing a [illegible] the notorious dive of Laddy Mar[illegible] Both pleaded guilty, stating that he and his [illegible] had been drinking and shaking dice in [illegible] and finally when he asked the barkeeper [illegible] he was "pasted one in the snoot" [illegible] and threw a piece [illegible] through the window. He was fined $25 [illegible] license for making such fellows drunk [illegible] be protected in his business. Carrol [illegible] not guilty, but will probably be fined and [illegible] for loafing around such a low dive. [illegible] Curtis [illegible] guilty to a charge of begging [illegible] of support. He is a healthy looking [illegible] and exhibited no symptoms of shame at [illegible] in which he found himself.

[illegible] TO HAVE AN ORGAN.—An effort is [illegible] by Bill Watkinds to trade off a lot of [illegible] holdings, on which it is said no payment [illegible] made, and which may never be certified [illegible] The lands will be a square no [illegible] they are [illegible] the swamp lands may be [illegible] at as much value as the defunct organ [illegible] the chief of police was engaged in [illegible] to raise cash enough to continue the [illegible] of the alleged newspaper [illegible] had gained control. To [illegible] a little [illegible] whom he thought would [illegible] respond to his solicitations for [illegible] of these he said "I am going to buy [illegible] have already got control of it. My ed[illegible] It will be run as an independent [illegible] What they need now is a little [illegible] keep them running until the papers can be [illegible] Me and Coe are going up it before [illegible] and in the meantime I wish you [illegible] down in the office and let them have $20."

[illegible] THE GAME LAW.—A. D. Monnastes and [illegible] were standing on Morrison street yes[illegible] a man passing with a fine string of [illegible] the eye of the old fisherman saw [illegible] contained a number of mountain trout [illegible] with Justice Bybee and a war[illegible] for the arrest of Messrs. Woods & Roos, [illegible] in whose possession the trout were [illegible] They were examined and held to answer to [illegible] They stated that they bought the fish [illegible] Indian, and that they were told by some one [illegible] varieties, salmon and mountain trout [illegible] male and female of the former species [illegible] law excuses no man, and can be no [illegible] such ignorance in regard to fish by any [illegible] Violators of the law for the [illegible] of game and fish may be certain that they [illegible] if detected, as all the sportsmen [illegible] determined to enforce the law to the best of [illegible] ability.

[illegible] CLUB.—Last night about thirty young [illegible] office of A. H. Tanner and organized [illegible] known as "The Young Men's Republican Club." Mr. Tanner was called to [illegible] and W. L. [illegible] OF MAIL ROBBERY.—Daniel Hill [illegible] with complicity in the robbery of a mail [illegible] county some time last December was [illegible] yesterday in the U. S. circuit court before a [illegible] and was acquitted. The defendant had been [illegible] the principal in the crime and [illegible] was almost wholly unsupported. The [illegible] that Hill had borne a good repu[illegible] the neighborhood in which he lived and had [illegible] with Stillwell's family, into which [illegible] This it was supposed constituted [illegible] of the accusation. The defense was ably [illegible] by James Gleason and J. M. Siglin and [illegible] returned their verdict of not guilty after [illegible] deliberation.

[illegible] DIFFICULTY.—Upon an order from [illegible] court the old suit between Hackett [illegible] Multnomah railroad company has been re[illegible] without any taking of testimony by the [illegible] W. H. Adams. It will shortly be brought to [illegible] In the meantime the two rival claimants [illegible] alternately, as per agreement [illegible] satisfaction of the citizens of Albina [illegible] welcome the increased accommoda[illegible] In order to carry the war into Afri[illegible] a ferryboat on the route between [illegible] Washington shores at Vancouver [illegible] Foster, of the Multnomah com[illegible] [illegible] over to Vancouver, and [illegible] regular trips as has been the custom in [illegible]

[illegible] GAME.—Information has been received [illegible] Hodge, a resident of Sandy Ridge [illegible] a few days since slaughtered [illegible] near Walker's prairie, in the vicinity [illegible] This breach of the law is aggravated [illegible] that Hodge could not possibly bring [illegible] of the animals he so wantonly killed [illegible] object in destroying them was to have [illegible] that he had killed so many elk in so short [illegible] Sportsmen here are very indignant over the [illegible] Hodge was a resident of this county [illegible] be speedily prosecuted. If there are any [illegible] will look after this matter.

[illegible] JACKSON COUNTY.—The extension of [illegible] road has been a great benefit to the peo[illegible] section, in affording them an outlet for [illegible] Parties from Ashland have loaded a [illegible] Portland market, and the first carload of ap[illegible] Plains was received by them a day or [illegible] The good price now paid for apples may [illegible] enterprise profitable but the excessive [illegible] at present ruling will prove a bar[illegible] shipment of apples from that section in [illegible] years. It is expected that large quantities [illegible] dried fruit, jellied cider, etc., will be received [illegible] Jackson before long.

[illegible] EMIGRANTS.—Eleven carloads of immi[illegible] first section of a party occupying forty [illegible] arrived here at 11 o'clock yesterday morning [illegible] are from many different states and dis[illegible] for various points in Oregon and Washi[illegible] and after leaving the Dalles yesterday [illegible] of the passengers, Mrs. Anna Powell of [illegible] died on the train from exhaus[illegible] with her husband and several grown [illegible] en route to Douglas county. The re[illegible] taken to Cooke's undertaking establish[illegible] will be shipped to Roseburg to-day.

[illegible]—A few cases of scarlet fever exist [illegible] a mild form are reported [illegible] in consequence of which the mill [illegible] have been under quarantine for several [illegible] no person has been allowed to go or come [illegible] without a pass. There was only [illegible] and that very light; hence our [illegible] there is no fear of an epidemic.

[illegible] TEACHERS.—School directors who [illegible] thoroughly qualified and carefully [illegible] teachers for their schools should write to [illegible] D. T. Stanley, at the State Normal school, [illegible] He will do so with their school and [illegible] of teacher wanted and the wages paid, [illegible] be referred to a teacher suited to them at [illegible]

[illegible] HOSPITAL.—Sister Hannah grate[illegible] acknowledges the gift of a very handsome car[illegible] for the chapel of the chapel in the Good Sa[illegible] Hospital, from Mrs. Holt C. Wilson.

THE OREGON PACIFIC.

Last night Colonel T. Egerton Hogg, president of the Oregon Pacific railroad arrived from San Francisco by the Columbia and registered at the Holton house. An OREGONIAN reporter called to see him late in the evening and was cordially received. The reporter began by stating in substance what had been telegraphed to this paper a few days ago from San Francisco concerning the road and asked for additional news on the subject.

Colonel Hogg replied promptly: "You may say that we will prosecute the work as fast as the weather will permit. Our [illegible] will [illegible] increase [illegible] until we have a full comp[illegible] Barring [illegible] we will have [illegible] will commence from Corvallis to Yaquina bay by the end of the summer and we expect to reach a point twenty miles east of the Willamette river before the end of the present year."

TO SNAKE RIVER.

Our intention [illegible] Colonel Hogg [illegible] to build [illegible] Snake river at the earliest [illegible] moment. We will [illegible] push the work [illegible] [illegible] will build very [illegible] justify. [illegible] the minimum and [illegible] make the freight rates so low that settlement along the line of the road will follow [illegible] rates cannot be given by a railroad [illegible] to completion at great extra cost. But we do say that we will complete the line to Snake river at [illegible] a junction with a trunk line to the east. The engineering parties in eastern Oregon [illegible] may intimate there has been some mystery [illegible] ours [illegible] the Oregon Short Line [illegible] has been reported. The survey has been at the expense of the Oregon Pacific and for the [illegible]

"Has [illegible] asked the reporter [illegible]

The [illegible] question [illegible] the remark [illegible] the query [illegible] a thousand times here [illegible] Oregon [illegible] asked. [illegible]

Colonel Hogg answered promptly that it was not necessary to [illegible] who had [illegible] We have enough [illegible] at this time to finish [illegible] first [illegible] the western division of the road [illegible] great deal to [illegible] enough. The [illegible] against the company now and every bill will be promptly paid. Beyond this the public can have no sort of interest.

It has been generally rumored that the Oregon Short Line is backing your company, suggested the reporter in the hope of getting an answer to the [illegible] question [illegible] understand [illegible] replied Col. Hogg emphatically. You may say that this money is raised wholly by the stockholders and bondholders of the Oregon Pacific entirely independent of any other company. You may say further that our stockholders are among the very strongest people financially in the United States. The private wealth of the men holding Oregon Pacific stock is not less than $[illegible]

While the reporter was present Colonel Hogg received a telegram from Yaquina, saying that the [illegible] from San Francisco with railroad material had crossed in at [illegible] found twenty [illegible] feet of water. He leaves for Corvallis this morning.

TWO LITTLE MATTERS SETTLED.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In the eighth page issue [illegible] I have seen [illegible] [illegible] from [illegible] industry [illegible]

[illegible] special from Washington City in which Senator Dolph is accused of con[illegible] [illegible] a gentleman that I immediately inquired into it and learned that there was no possible foundation for any such charges. The report was circulated through the dispatches merely [illegible] But Senator Dolph's friends will feel indignant over it, and as he will not pay any attention to it himself I go [illegible] somebody's [illegible] to protest against the telegraph belittling both itself and the senatorial office by giving publication to such a ridiculous story.

The second item is signed "Oregon," and I see by its contents that a certain somebody has become so [illegible] over the success of the suffrage movement in Washington territory that he has come down from his pedestal of [illegible] and fallen to [illegible] of Oregon to [illegible] the enfranchisement of their wives and [illegible] till they see whether or not Mr. [illegible] artesian well is to be a success in East Portland. The lasting argument of this remarkable proposition reveals the writer's personality so clearly that I find no difficulty in identifying him as the foreign born crank [illegible] who earns the living in a [illegible] hotel [illegible] he talks [illegible] rights on the streets. I take [illegible] to state for his information that Wyoming and Washington territory have already proven woman suffrage a success so Mr. Laid's artesian well experiment would [illegible] a ballot test even if there were any conceivable analogy between the two ideas. Respectfully, A. S. DUNIWAY.

THE LETTER OF "X."

PORTLAND March 12, 1884.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

May I be pardoned for a single reference to the communication in this morning's OREGONIAN by the author of "X," solely for the purpose of illustrating and enforcing the lesson I sought to teach in my criticism of his former letter which was that such an article betrays inherent vulgarity and brutality.

Let no teacher nor well bred youth be surprised when "X" says he has practiced this sort of thing for thirty years and isn't ashamed of it. He has no occasion to say that he knows nothing of the manners of gentlemen, nor that his ideas of what constitute a [illegible] differ from mine. All that is [illegible] on the face of it.

ALFRED F. SEARS.

Taking the Books to Boston.

Boston Advertiser, March 4.

Vice President Anthony J. Thomas of the Oregon and Transcontinental Company received written instructions from President Endicott last Saturday to remove the company's books and papers to Boston where it had been decided to have the general office. Mr. Thomas declined to obey the order on the ground it is stated that he did not consider the reasons given him for such a step sufficient to warrant his acting as directed. His resignation which had been placed in the hands of President Endicott some time previously was therefore accepted and the secretary and assistant treasurer made the transfer of the books and papers on Saturday evening. The change it is explained, was made in order to avoid the necessity of President Endicott making frequent trips to New York when important business interests require his presence in Boston where he lives.

GERDES HOLD ON WATKINDS.

PORTLAND, Mar. 12.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I was somewhat amused at an item in this morning's OREGONIAN [illegible] the [illegible] Chief of [illegible] [illegible] that your reporters have not learned [illegible] of affairs. Gerdes has [illegible] his control of [illegible] acting [illegible] of the First [illegible] [illegible] What [illegible] was [illegible] [illegible] Watkinds [illegible]

[illegible]

When the decision came sustaining the city Gerdes was ready to submit the resignation, because the judge was in Watkinds' favor. [illegible] I was at this time that Watkinds bulldozed the mayor into staying home and the trigger then set [illegible] Watkinds was not touched. The chief then [illegible] he had [illegible] hearing of the case and upon this condition Gerdes permitted him [illegible] rendering [illegible] written resignation. This is the ax he holds over Watkinds' neck and it is no wonder that the chief obeys his every beck and [illegible]

THE BLASTING ACCIDENT IN PYLES CANYON.

The Mountain Sentinel contains the following additional particulars concerning the frightful a[illegible] at Pyles Canyon, a short account of which appeared in THE OREGONIAN of last Sunday. The men working in the cut on Jessup's contract had drilled a hole about fifteen feet deep, which was to have been filled with eight kegs of powder to do some effective work on the bank. Several Italians were engaged in the cut when the foreman, Joseph Perry, went on top to put in the load. He had put five kegs of powder into the hole and was tamping it down with an iron bar preparatory to putting in more, when a small rock became detached and fell into the hole [illegible] In his endeavor to loosen the bar, the rock grinding against it caused a premature discharge of the whole five kegs of powder with a [illegible] and death dealing effect. The bar which he was using was blown through the foreman's jaw and one side of his face was terribly bruised and mangled with rock and filled with dirt and powder. The men in the cut were buried alive under a ponderous weight of earth and rock which was shook down by the explosion. Four of the men were killed instantly and one severely wounded. The names of those killed were Joe Capollo and Francisco Carlino, Italians; Watt Kelleher and Andrew Lindt, a Swede. The name of the other wounded man we did not learn. The wounded men it is believed will recover. The four dead men were brought down and interred on Friday in the Union cemetery.

The London Lancet continues to discuss high heels from a sanitary point of view. This is not exactly the way we have looked at high heels, and yet it is considerations of health that keep many people away from the rear end of a mule.—Detroit Free Press.

THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 13, 1884.

REPORT ON MORRISON'S MEASURE.

Arguments for and against the Bill Submitted to the House.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The majority report on the Morrison tariff bill, after referring to the clause in the president's message which speaks of the work of the tariff commission, and quoting from the report of that commission to congress, in which it estimates the average reduction at between 20 and 25 per cent., and to the statement of the chairman of the senate committee on finance on presenting the bill, that it would reduce the revenue $35,000,000, goes on to say that these predictions have not been verified by the operations of the law, so the question still presses what legislation is necessary to relieve the people of unnecessary burdens. The committee find that for the first six months during which the new law embodying the ideas of the tariff commission was in force, duties were nearly 41 per cent. of the value of goods imported; that for the corresponding period of the year 1882, under the old law, the duty paid was somewhat less than 42½ per cent. of the value of goods imported; that the exact average of reduction made by the new law, in comparison with the old law, was only 1.74 per cent.

The report continues: "This exhibit of the reduction in rates made by the act of March 3, 1883, amounting to 1.74 per cent. of duty, is due, not to an important modification, resulting from changes in value and other conditions, some of which increase and others reduce the comparative ad valorem rate. The nominal reduction made by the proposed bill is 20 per cent., or one-fifth of the present tariff rates. With the Morrill tariff limitations in the bill, and the liquor and silk schedules admitted as they are, the actual reduction on the basis of last year's imports will not exceed 15.74 per cent. on the whole importation of dutiable goods."

THE REAL CAUSE OF THE DECREASE.

The report then speaks of wood, lumber coal and salt being put on the free list as articles of universal use and necessity to all the people, and continues: "The decrease in revenue, as shown by receipts under the new law, other than that resulting from the nominal reduction of 1.74 per cent., results from a falling off in the value of nearly $25,000,000 of imports. On the first half year under the new law compared with the first half of the previous year under the old law, the reduction of revenue receipts, under the bill, is reported as estimated at $31,000,000 on the basis of last year's imports."

Reference is made to the fact that under the law of 1883 the duties on some articles were increased, and on others decreased, and the report says: "The wages of operatives in both of these classes have generally been reduced. The conditions of manufacturing and other industries are not satisfactory, and they only recovered late in 1879 from a partial paralysis of five years' duration. In less than three years after the recovery such new evidences of adversity appear that in one of the largest and best paying industries, iron and steel, the calamity of a four months' stoppage and idleness fell upon workers dependent upon it, and not upon invested capital."

The report here cites the annual report of the American Iron and Steel association for the year 1882, made May 1, 1883. The report then says, recurring to the industrial embarrassment: "Enforced idleness is inseparable from the enormities of our protective system," and that "the calamities of such a system always fall upon the laboring people. Your committee, therefore, report the bill to reduce import duties and war tariff taxes, with the recommendation that it be passed as a measure of partial relief to the people for unnecessary taxes, as a measure of justice to consumers and conducive to general industry and prosperity."

THE MINORITY REPORT.

The minority report was prepared by McKinley and presents a number of objections to the bill. It says last year's tariff has not been in operation long enough to give it a practical test. It should have a fair trial, and it should be fairly known before the subject is entered upon again. Not a single interest in the country has asked for the proposed reduction with the exception of the free trade clubs of New York and Brooklyn. On the other hand, all interests protest against the change recommended. Some interests assert that the present duties are necessary for the actual maintenance of the industry and labor employed therein. The wool growers of the country are unanimous in asking restoration of the wool duty of 1867, but our opponents propose to reduce the duties still more.

In closing their report the minority give their reasons for opposing the bill. They state that it will disturb business, force down the price of labor, stimulate imports, and increase competition from abroad; that the increase of importations will necessarily increase our revenues, to which increase every interest of the country is opposed; that it is wholly unnecessary and unjustifiable in every aspect, and to every American interest. It is only hurtful; that it has none of the merits of a carefully matured tariff bill, and is not the result of studious consideration of the interests of our people, their investments and employments, or of the condition of the public treasury; that the feature of the bill which applies ad valorem duties to most of the schedules affected by it is especially objectionable, because it will greatly increase the existing uncertainties of valuation and consequently promote frauds upon the revenue.

THE PRESENT DUTIES ESSENTIAL.

The minority report says: "All workmen unite in declaring that protective duties are essential to fair and remunerative wages, and that every reduction of said duties inevitably results in lowering American wages. We dissent radically from the statement of the majority of the committee that a reduction of duties lightens by as much the burdens of taxation. We believe the late tariff legislation should run on without material change for a period. Business has adjusted itself to it, and producers have entered into contracts and generally arranged their business, in character and volume, in conformity with it. What the country wants most is relief from congressional agitation. All industries of the country are extremely sensitive, and just at this time, when business is more or less depressed in every branch, the threat or fear of change increases the element of uncertainty and disturbance throughout the country. A 20 per cent. reduction, or any reduction however slight, following so close upon reductions made last winter, can not be defended as to a single schedule of the tariff, and as to many it can be shown to be wholly disastrous."

THE MEXICAN PENSION BILL.

The Full Text of the Bill as Passed by the House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The following is the text of the Mexican pension bill:

"Be it enacted, etc., That the secretary of the interior be directed to place on the pension roll the names of the surviving officers and enlisted men, including marines, militia and volunteers, of the military and naval service of the United States who served sixty days in the war of 1846, 1847 and 1848 with Mexico, or who, being enlisted, actually served with the army or navy of the United States in Mexico in said war, or were actually engaged in a battle in said war and were honorably discharged, and to such other officers, and soldiers, and sailors as may have been personally named in any resolution of congress for any specific service in said war, although their term of service may have been less than sixty days, and the surviving widows of such officers, or soldiers, or sailors prior to the discharge of such officers and enlisted men; provided, that such widows have not remarried; and provided, further, that this act shall not apply to any person not a citizen of the United States.

"Sec. 2. That pensions shall be at the rate of $8 per month, and payable only from and after the passage of this act, for and during the natural lives of the persons entitled thereto.

"Sec. 3. That before the name of any person shall be placed on the pension roll, proof shall be made, under such rules and regulations as the secretary of the interior shall prescribe, of the right of the applicant to a pension; and any person who shall falsely and corruptly take any oath required shall be guilty of perjury, and the secretary of the interior shall cause to be stricken from the pension roll the name of any person whenever it shall be made to appear that such name was put upon such roll through false and fraudulent representations, and that such person is not entitled to a pension under the act. The loss of the certificate of discharge shall not deprive any person of the benefits of this act, but other evidence of service performed and of an honorable discharge may be deemed sufficient.

"Sec. 4. That the pension laws now in force which are not inconsistent or in conflict with this act are hereby made a part of this act so far as they may be applicable thereto.

"Sec. 5. That it shall be unlawful for any attorney, claim-agent, or any other person to demand or receive a fee greater than $10 for services rendered in behalf of a claimant under this act, to be paid when such claim is allowed.

"Sec. 6. That section 4716 (forbidding payment of pensions to ex-rebels) of the revised statutes is hereby repealed so far as the same relates to this act or to pensioners under this act.

"Sec. 7. That the provisions of this act shall not apply to any person while under the political disabilities imposed by the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States."

Disruption of the Democratic Party.

N. Y. Herald.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The discovery that Mr. Randall had so compacted his forces and prepared his plans as to make the defeat of the Morrison tariff reform bill certain, and probably enable him even to prevent debate of the bill, has been the only topic of conversation here among the democrats to-day. All see the extreme seriousness of the situation. Some of the weaker brethren whimper over it as the destruction of their hopes of political honors, but the reformers generally welcome the issue Mr. Randall has determined on, and the leaders are discussing the best method to bring on the issue. One of the leading tariff reformers said to your correspondent this evening:

"It was inevitable, and it will clear the political skies. The democratic party will die as the old whig party died, because it is a house divided against itself. It cannot longer be a party both for and against reform; for and against protection and monopoly. If the Randall wing can boss it, then let the Randall men elect their ticket. They will not get five states, and Mr. Randall will have the satisfaction of giving the republicans an overwhelming victory. But it remains to be seen whether Mr. Randall can rule the convention, where he will not have the assistance of the republicans. At any rate this is as good a time as any to see if there is a democratic party."

Matrimonial Collisions.

London Spectator.

The collision of husband and wife is so frequent as to have a literature to itself. In this case the man, though he suffers also, suffers much the least. He can, if he is severely disappointed, get mentally away; he can form new friendships, he can harden himself until he is more or less apathetic, he can put affection, which makes the true sting of such unions, away from him, and so, with his coolness restored, can go on and find life endurable. He is free to strive, though the striving is useless. The woman—we are speaking throughout of the good woman—cannot get away, either from the house, or, what is more important, from herself, cannot strive without loss of self respect, cannot enfranchise herself from her own sense of right, from her own necessity to herself of concealing her disappointment from her own heart. She cannot be quietly discontented, or coolly disappointed, or patiently callous. The condition is imperative, and she must suffer daily, hourly, perhaps, through life, from a cause which even a mental change, possibly to be made if duty did not forbid, would either remove or, at least, diminish to much smaller proportions. A woman so situated cannot be either serene or genuinely happy, can at best be resigned, feeling all the time how harsh destiny is, yet how irresistible, because it exerts its force not from outside, but straight on her own heart. "I must forbear," says the husband to himself, and he bears; "I ought to cure it," says the wife, and it is incurable. The pain in the one case is disappointment, the pain in the other that of contention with the inexorable, which yet you know it is your duty not to contend with. Patience is usually the mode of either, but Griselda, whatever else she may be, is not serene, and Griselda is but a fairy tale.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

WEDNESDAY, March 12.

Pleasant, sunny weather rules to-day and the streets indicate an active condition of affairs. The eastern train brought a large number of immigrants this morning, and freights this way are larger. Eastern Oregon and Washington report fair weather with warm winds.

Among to-day's overland freight was included a car-load of tin, billed to Everding & Farrell, Astoria. This shipment appeared to be somewhat out of the ordinary run of affairs and inquiry was instituted. Just how tin can be brought across the Atlantic and thence by rail to this coast with any profit to the buyer does not appear, but it is being done, and, no doubt, at a profit. Inquiry revealed that the Pillar Rock packing company were the importers of the tin and that they had five more cars on the road. The tin is laid down here 26 cents per box less than direct importers by water can sell it for. The first car came through from New York in 23 days; the others are behind this. If our importers are to permit or cannot prevent buying at the east, a very considerable trade will be done in this way. Possibly the importer has felt too sure of his position and has not considered the new route.

The local factory has reduced sisal cordage ⅜ cent.

WHEAT—The Beerbohm report to-day is largely devoted to quotations which are a shade higher than last ones sent. The tone of the market remains dull and heavy. Our market is rather mixed, some claiming $1 51@1 52 to be the top of the market, while others contend that $1 55 is possible. There are no open offers of the last figure, and it cannot be relied upon. Walla Walla is in small request, with sales of fair in small parcels at $1 50.

OATS—Sales include car of very choice at 62c on wharf, which is the very extreme. Good is obtainable at 50c and poorer grades down to 40c.

ONIONS—Sales down to 1¾c for round lots. Ordinary parcels jobbing at 1¾c, and firm.

PROVISIONS—Lard in weaker tone. To-day's Chicago markets show a substantial advance, although it may not be a healthy one.

CHICKENS—Choice sold up to $6 50 under the temporary scarcity. Market hinges on supplies which have recently failed to meet expectations.

EGGS—The week has witnessed heavy receipts, and all attempts to keep up values were abandoned this morning. To-day we quote 25c, with large stocks and continued weak undertone.

SHIPPING NOTES.

THE AZTECS.

How they Explained the Possession of their Music.

The Continent.

The ancient Mexicans attributed a knowledge of music upon earth to the sorcerer Tezcatlipoca, who brought it from the sun; this myth of origin would indicate that a high degree of importance was attached to the art which solemnized their sacred chants and ceremonies. A desire to produce musical sounds, although harsh to the educated ear of our day, seems to have been natural with the Aztecs. We are told by old historians, who had lived among them, that in their time "many of these simple-minded barbarians spent whole days in practicing music and song." Among many of the existing tribes of Mexico and Central America it is their custom when upon a journey to carry flageolets and play melodies thereon.

Numerous relics exhumed from the burial places of the ancient Mexicans show that they endeavored to make objects by which they were surrounded into musical sounds; these may be broadly classified into percussive and wind instruments. A fine example of this last named class is a vase somewhat Roman in form and made of black clay highly polished. It was found near the City of Mexico, and is now exhibited with the William S. Vaux collection of antiquities in the museum of the academy of natural sciences at Philadelphia. The body is ornamented by grotesque masks supported by four gracefully carved feet resembling the tails of serpents. The exterior edge or rim is perforated by small openings, between which and the interior of the vessel there is a broad plane. When covered by the lips and blown into, these perforations yield musical sounds. By closing one of the eyes in the masks, which are hollow and connect by means of air passages with the interior of the vase and openings upon the plain surface, some approach to a half tone lower than that produced by leaving the hole open can be obtained. The discovery of the musical power of this vase is interesting. It had been purchased by an archæologist who was attracted by its artistic form and decoration. While endeavoring to clean the eyes and holes in the masks, which were filled with dirt, he applied his lips in order to blow therefrom particles of dust which remained, and found to his surprise that they emitted musical sounds. It is probable that it may have been used by the Aztecs as a ceremonial vase in the great temple at the ancient Pueblo of Mexico.

This is Sarcasm.

Toledo (Ohio) Commercial.

The only possible objection to Edmunds as a candidate is his wild and unreflecting enthusiasm—in which he resembles the Washington monument. We doubt whether there is a republican voter in the Union who would not be glad to see Judge Edmunds in the presidential chair. With Judge Edmunds for president and Divine Providence for vice president and the New York Nation for government organ, we should feel safe for four years to come.

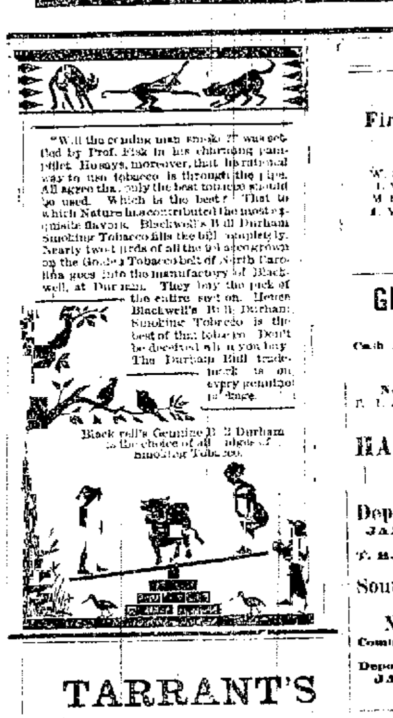
CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

Castoria promotes Digestion and overcomes Flatulency, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, and Feverishness. It insures health and natural sleep, without morphine.

"Castoria is so well adapted to Children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 82 Portland Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

What gives our Children rosy cheeks,
What cures their fevers, makes them sleep; 'Tis Castoria.
When babies fret and cry by turns,
What cures their colic, kills their worms; But Castoria.
What quickly cures Constipation,
Sour Stomach, Colds, Indigestion; But Castoria.
Farewell then to Morphine Syrups,
Castor Oil and Paregoric, and Hail Castoria!

CENTAUR LINIMENT—an absolute cure for Rheumatism, Sprains, Burns, Galls &c. The most Powerful and Penetrating Pain-relieving and Healing Remedy known to man.



"Will the coming man smoke?" was settled by Prof. Fisk in his charming pamphlet. He says, moreover, that the rational way to use tobacco is through the pipe. All agree that only the best tobacco should be used. Which is the best? That to which Nature has contributed the most exquisite flavors. Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco fills the bill completely. Nearly two-thirds of all the tobacco grown on the Golden Tobacco belt of North Carolina goes into the manufactory of Blackwell, at Durham. They buy the pick of the entire section. Hence Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is the best of that tobacco. Don't be deceived when you buy. The Durham Bull trade-mark is on every genuine package.
Blackwell's Genuine Bull Durham is the choice of all judges of Smoking Tobacco.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF Oregon, for the county of Multnomah. Caro M. Wood, plaintiff, vs. G. H. Davis, David Black and L. M. Davis, defendants. To L. M. Davis, one of the above named defendants: In the name of the state of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the first day of the next term of this court following the last publication of this summons, to-wit: the first Monday in May, A. D. 1884, being the fifth day of said May. And in case you fail so to answer for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to-wit: for a decree that the sales made by the defendant, G. H. Davis, to the defendant, David Black, of date [illegible], and also of date November 1, 1883, and the sale by the defendant, G. H. Davis, made to the defendant, L. M. Davis, of date October [illegible], 1883, be declared fraudulent and void as against this plaintiff, and that the lands be subjected to the property of the defendant, G. H. Davis, and that the sheriff of Multnomah county, Oregon, be directed to sell the said property, or so much thereof as may be necessary, and to pay out of the proceeds thereof the judgment of plaintiff, amounting to $[illegible], together with the costs and accruing costs of this suit, and hold the remainder subject to the order of this court, and for such other and further relief as to equity and good conscience appertains. This publication is made by virtue of an order of the Hon. Seneca Smith, judge of said court, duly given on the sixth day of February, A. D. 1884.

POTASH.
Iodide of Potassium is one of the strongest of the minerals used in medicine, and has produced much suffering in the world. Taken for a long time and in large doses, it dries up the gastric juices, impairs digestion, the stomach refuses food, and the patient declines in health and weight. Persons with Blood or Skin Diseases should be careful how they take these mineral poisons, as in most instances the effect of them is to almost permanently impair the constitution. To take the place of these poisons we offer you a safe, sure, prompt and permanent relief from your troubles. Swift's Specific is entirely a vegetable preparation, and it is easy to convince you of its merit.
I have cured permanently Blood Taint in the third generation by the use of Swift's Specific, after I had most signally failed with Mercury and Potash. F. A. TOOMER, M. D., Perry, Georgia.
A young man requests me to thank you for his cure of Blood Poison by the use of your Specific, after all other treatment had failed. JOS. JACOBS, Druggist, Athens, Ga.
TRIED HOT SPRINGS TWO LONG YEARS WITHOUT RELIEF.
Mercurial Rheumatism made me a cripple. After trying the springs two years, and the Mercury and Potash treatment until I was a skeleton and unable to do anything, I was prevailed upon to take a course of S. S. S. After taking three bottles, my appetite began to improve and I gained flesh rapidly. When I had taken twelve bottles I felt as well as I ever did. It is now twelve months since I took S. S. S. My health and appetite are good, and I am able to attend to all the business I can get. CHAS. BERG. Hot Springs, Jan. 5, 1884.
"PUT ME SQUARE ON MY FEET."
Twelve months ago I was persuaded to try S. S. S. for Malarial Rheumatism, which had crippled me so that I was unable to attend to business. Less than twelve bottles have put me square on my feet; have steadily improved; havn't felt better in ten years. C. B. GUINN, Hot Springs, Jan. 1, 1884.

WOLFE'S
Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps.
As a general beverage, necessary corrective of water rendered impure by vegetable decomposition or other causes, as diuretic, ... the AROMATIC SCHNAPPS is superior to every other alcoholic preparation. A public trial of over thirty years' duration in every section of our country of UDOLPHO WOLFE'S SCHNAPPS, its unsolicited indorsement by the medical faculty, and a sale unequaled by any other alcoholic distillation, have insured for it the reputation for salubrity claimed for it. For sale by all druggists and grocers.

Preventive and Cure, for either Sex.
This remedy being injected directly to the seat of those diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs, requires no change of diet or nauseous, mercurial or poisonous medicines to be taken internally. When taken as a preventive by either sex it is impossible to contract any private disease; but in the case of those already unfortunately afflicted with Gonorrhœa and Gleet, we guarantee 3 boxes to cure or we will refund the money. Price by mail, postage paid, $2.00 per box, or 3 boxes for $5.00. Written guarantees issued by all authorized agents.
